

I as a Flight attendant feel allowing cell phone usage on planes will be more trouble than expected. In the close conditions we are in many people who are trying to find peace and quiet will then be faced with their neighbors personal phone and chatty conversations that will not only last a few minutes but possibly the entire 2 or more hour flight causing annoyance and animosity towards other passengers it will be a horrible idea